INTRODUCTION

The Guides to German Records Microfilmed at Alexandria, VA, constitute a series of finding aids to the National Archives and Records Administration (NARA) microfilm publications of seized records of German central, regional, and local government agencies and of military commands and units, as well as of the Nazi Party, its component formations, affiliated associations, and supervised organizations. For the most part, these records were created during the period 1920-45.

The guide series was initiated as a microfilming project of the Committee for the Study of War Documents of the American Historical Association (AHA) in cooperation with the National Archives and the Department of the Army. With the termination of AHA participation in July 1963, the National Archives assumed sole responsibility for the reproduction of records and the preparation of guides.

Guide No. 97 is Part II of Records of the Reich Ministry for the Occupied Eastern Territories (Reichsministerium für die besetzten Ostgebiete, or Rmfdbo) and other offices held by Alfred Rosenberg ("Rosenberg Collection"), and describes records reproduced on 61 rolls of NARA Microfilm Publication T454 (rolls 107-167). Part I constitutes Guide No. 28.

Records described in this guide, as with those in Guide No. 28, document the varied activities of Reichsleiter Alfred Rosenberg and the organizations he concurrently headed within the Nazi Party and the German government, 1933-45. Born in Reval (now Tallinn, Estonia), Rosenberg emigrated to Germany and became a member of the Nazi Party in 1920. He exercised a strong influence on the formation of Nazi Party ideology, particularly after Hitler named him chief editor of the party newspaper Völkischer Beobachter in 1921. He published his principal ideological work, Mythus des XX. Jahrhunderts (Myth of the Twentieth Century), in 1930. Although appointed by Hitler to several party posts, Rosenberg's influence declined following the Nazi assumption of power. During World War II he held the position of Reich Minister for the Occupied Eastern Territories, yet he exercised little executive authority against the prerogatives of the SS and other agencies. After the war Rosenberg was tried and convicted of war crimes by the International Military Tribunal and executed at Nürnberg in October 1946.

The majority of the records described in this guide pertain to the Reich Ministry for the Occupied Eastern Territories (more commonly known as the Eastern Ministry), the civil administration for occupied Soviet areas established in July 1941. The nucleus of the ministry's staff was provided by the predecessor Zentralabteilung für die Behandlung von Ostfragen (Central Department for the Treatment of Eastern Questions), established under Rosenberg in April 1941 to prepare occupation policy guidelines in anticipation of the German invasion of the Soviet Union. The ministry was responsible for civil administration in the occupied Soviet Union, except for those areas in immediate proximity to military operations (under German military government), and those attached to other administrative districts (e.g., western Ukraine, incorporated within the Generalgouvernement).

The occupied Soviet Union was to be divided into several regional administrations, each designated a Reichskommissariat, but only two were actually established: Reichskommissariat Ostland (RKO, the Baltic states and western Byelorussia), and Reichskommissariat Ukraine (RKU, the central Ukraine north of the Crimean peninsula). Each of these was in turn divided into several Generalkommissariate. Reichskommissariat Ostland, for example, included four Generalkommissariate, one for each of the former Baltic states and another for occupied western Byelorussia (designated Generalkommissariat Weissruthenien). Each Generalkommissariat was in turn divided into district administrations designated Gebietskommissariate.

The nominal control of occupation policy exercised by Rosenberg was severely limited by Hitler's initial directions and subsequent actions. Specifically excluded from Rosenberg's control were issues of economic policy, reserved for Hermann Göring in his capacity as Head of the Four-Year-Plan, and police and security matters, under the authority of Reichsführer-SS Heinrich Himmler. The heads of the regional administrations, enjoying direct access to Hitler on policy issues, often neglected or reversed Rosenberg's directives. In March 1942, the newly-established Plenipotentiary General for the Allocation of Labor (Generalbevollmächtigter für den Arbeitseinsatz), Gauleiter Fritz Sauckel, received sweeping authority for the forced conscription of Russian and Ukrainian labor (collectively designated as Ostarbeiter) in the occupied areas. Later the Propaganda and Food Ministries absorbed functions originally exercised or reserved for the Eastern Ministry. These conditions led to continual policy conflicts and jurisdictional disputes on virtually all aspects of German occupation policy.

Records of the Eastern Ministry document these conflicts within the ministry and with other agencies on such issues as: the degree of political autonomy or self-government to be allowed specific regions under occupation; special treatment for ethnic minorities under occupation; economic exploitation versus concessions to the population; cultural and educational policy; political attitudes and morale of the occupied population; activities of Soviet partisans and consequent antipartisan operations; anti-Jewish measures and actions; political and military mobilization of the occupied population; and treatment and welfare of refugees from formerly-occupied areas who accompanied the German retreat. The principal collection of ministry records consists of materials originated or collected by the Policy Department (Hauptabteilung Politik, later redesignated Führungsstab Politik), and reflect the perspective of the ministry's Berlin headquarters. Other records originated in the two Reichskommissariate, revealing information at the regional level of occupation. The records also provide extensive documentation on the participation of the German Army and the SS in the determination of occupation policy, and of conditions in the occupied Baltic states, western Byelorussia, and the Ukraine.

Other records relate to the activities of the following Nazi Party organizations: the Einsatzstab Reichsleiter Rosenberg (ERR, Rosenberg Task Group), established in 1940 for the confiscation of Jewish books, manuscripts, cultural materials, and art treasures throughout occupied Europe; the Aussenpolitisches Amt (Foreign Policy Office) of the Nazi Party, under Rosenberg's direction after April 1933; der Beauftragte des Führers der NSDAP für die Überwachung der gesamte geistige und weltanschauliche Schulung und Erziehung der NSDAP (Deputy of the Führer for guidance of the entire spiritual and ideological training of the Nazi Party), established in January 1934 with broad but ill-defined authority in the formulation of Nazi Party ideology and doctrine; and the Dienststelle Rosenberg (later redesignated Kanzlei Rosenberg), Rosenberg's private secretariat established after his January 1934 appointment that coordinated many of his Nazi Party activities. Records of the ERR are particularly significant for information on the confiscation of Jewish literary and cultural materials, but also include data on the confiscation and evacuation of state and local archives, libraries, and records collections in the formerly occupied areas of the USSR as German forces withdrew, 1943-45. Records of the Aussenpolitisches Amt include information on Nazi Party activities in foreign countries. Records of the Beauftragte...NSDAP especially document Nazi Party cultural policy in the identification of non-Aryan and "undesirable" influences in music and literature. Dienststelle/Kanzlei Rosenberg records include extensive personnel records for staff members of the various Rosenberg organizations. The designations of subordinate offices within these organizations evolved over time (e.g., the Amt Musik [Music Section] later became the Hauptstelle Musik [Music Main Office]); the designations used in the text follow those indicated in the text of the records at the time of creation.

Considerable overlap existed among the personnel and functions of Rosenberg's various organizations, characterized by the union of different offices in a single individual. Dr. Georg Leibbrandt served simultaneously as the head of the Eastern section of the party's Aussenpolitisches Amt and chief of the Eastern Ministry's Hauptabteilung Politik (Main Department for Policy); Gerhard Utikal acted as the operations chief of the ERR while directing the central office of the Dienststelle Rosenberg; and Georg Ebert held successive positions within the Aussenpolitisches Amt, the ERR, and the Rmfdbo. The records reflect this overlap, often including material of different offices within a single file.

The mixed provenance of Eastern Ministry and other Rosenberg agency records is further complicated by the treatment of these records following their capture by the Allies. A number of these records were captured in Paris in 1944, where they were exploited for their war crimes and intelligence value by a team of Office of Strategic Services (OSS) analysts. Nearly 700 original documents, totaling several thousand pages, were removed at that time for later use in war crimes trials and never restored to their original files. Other documents were withdrawn for intelligence exploitation by the OSS.

The remaining records, together with other Rosenberg materials captured by the Western Allies at war's end, were apparently numbered sequentially by the Allied war crimes investigation and intelligence staffs (e.g., R-1, R-2) without regard for specific office of origin or original filing schemes used by Rosenberg staff members (an example of one such scheme for Eastern Ministry records is reproduced on T454 roll 17, frames 715-16). Additional documents were permanently withdrawn from the files for the use of the Centre de Documentation Juive Contemporaine (Center of Contemporary Jewish Documentation), Paris, and the YIVO Institute for Jewish Research, New York, NY. Other collections of Rosenberg organization records were seized by Soviet forces; some were returned to the German Democratic Republic while others remained in Moscow.

After the records seized by American forces were brought to the United States, U.S. Army records managers sought to impose some coherence and unity to the heterogeneous body of German records by adopting and expanding the German military file classification scheme known as the Einheitsaktenplan (EAP). Under this plan, records of the Reich Ministry for the Occupied Eastern Territories received the prefix EAP 99, followed by a sequential numerical listing of individual files (e.g., EAP 99/1, EAP 99/2). Records of the other Rosenberg organizations were generally included within this classification. EAP 99 file designations are provided in this guide and in Guide No. 28.

The records described in this guide often appear out of their EAP 99 numerical sequence, as they include four separate categories: (1) record items already microfilmed as part of T454 (roll 107); (2) originals and reproductions of records not previously microfilmed (rolls 108-110); (3) records microfilmed by the Army as "MR" (microfilm reproduction) rolls, which duplicate much of the documentation subsequently microfilmed by the AHA (rolls 111-159); and (4) accessioned "ML" (microfilm library) reproductions received by the Army from other sources (rolls 160-167). Both "MR" and "ML" rolls lack frame numbers; the contents of the "ML" rolls lack EAP 99 file designations as well, providing only the "R-" folder numbers assigned by Allied investigation and intelligence staffs. For such rolls, the record item descriptions in this guide provide the approximate number of frames for each item and the original "MR" or "ML" microfilm designation. Many record items reproduced on the "MR" and "ML" rolls duplicate those already described in Guide No. 28.

These items are not separately described in this guide, but references are provided to their location on T454 roll numbers and to descriptions in Guide No. 28.

For record items other than those reproduced on "MR" and "ML" rolls, a descriptive data sheet was microfilmed immediately preceding the item it describes. The data sheets for all record items on one roll of film, including "MR" and "ML" rolls, were again filmed as a finding aid at the beginning of that roll. The information contained on these data sheets was used in writing the descriptions for the record items in this guide, but these descriptions were considerably revised because so many of the data sheets were prepared hastily to keep pace with the filming and restitution schedules.

The record items not previously microfilmed include both originals and reproductions of documents. These materials were formerly security-classified or temporarily unavailable during the initial microfilming. Many of these record items consist of individual documents that may have originally belonged to larger files but became separated and subsequently received their own EAP 99 record item numbers. Some items were available only as negative photostat reproductions, others only as poorly legible positive photostat reproductions. An effort was made in microfilming to provide the best possible reproduction, but the poor quality of some original material limits their legibility.

Scattered among the microfilmed Rosenberg materials are several record items of I.G. Farben (AGFA) materials, most of which relate to employees of the firm, 1944-46. These records do not appear to relate to any specific Rosenberg activity, although a number of the workers involved had been conscripted in the occupied USSR. Although these record items received EAP 99 numbers, they likely represent miscellaneous materials erroneously filed with the Rosenberg Collection.

Not microfilmed is record item EAP 99/1285, which contains no original records of a German government or Nazi Party organization. The folder instead contains photostatic reproductions of typed notes of author Jürgen Thorwald for his book Wen Sie Verderben Wollen. Bericht des grossen Verrats [Whom the Gods Destroy, They First Make Mad. Report of the Great Treason] (Stuttgart, 1952). The citations within the notes indicate that they relate to materials in the custody of the Institut für Zeitgeschichte, Munich.

After microfilming, the original records described here were returned to the Federal Republic of Germany and deposited at the Bundessarchiv-Abteilung Militäerarchiv in Freiburg/Breisgau. There the Bundesarchiv reorganized the materials and supplemented them with additional original records or reproductions obtained from other sources. Records of the Reichsministerium für die besetzten Ostgebiete now constitute Bestand R 6; those of the Einsatzstab Reichsleiter Rosenberg, Bestand NS 30; those of Beauftragte des Führers für die Überwachung der gesamten geistigen und weltanschaulichen Schulung und Erziehung der NSDAP, Bestand NS 15; and those of the Dienststelle/Kanzlei Rosenberg, Bestand NS 8. Finding aids to these collections are available from the Bundesarchiv.

Individual items withdrawn from the Rosenberg files for use during the Nürnberg war crimes trials or for intelligence information are now located in RG 238, the National Archives Collection of World War II War Crimes Records, and in RG 226, Records of the Office of Strategic Services (OSS). Appendixes I-II of this guide provide additional information on these materials.

A number of records of Rosenberg organizations became incorporated within other collections of captured German records reproduced on NARA microfilm publications. Many records of the Nazi Party organizations headed by Rosenberg are reproduced on T81, "Records of the National Socialist German Labor Party," described in Guide No. 3, pp. 6-11, 18-22, and 128-35, and Guide No. 77, pp. 9-14. Guide No. 77 also includes descriptions of some ERR materials (p. 15). Microfilmed Nazi Party records also include a folder of Rosenberg's correspondence, 1924-27, described in Guide No. 35, p. 14. Some additional Eastern Ministry records are reproduced on T84, "Miscellaneous German Records Collection," described in Guide No. 8, pp. 50-51, 55, 111, 113. The same microfilm publication also includes some ERR record items, described in Guide No. 90, pp. 203-06.

Original ERR and Eastern Ministry records obtained by the YIVO Institute of Jewish Research, New York, NY, are combined with fragmentary records of the German Propaganda Ministry as part of that repository's Record Group 215 (the "Berlin Collection"). Descriptions of these records are provided in the National Archives publication Supplement to the Guide to Captured German Documents (Washington, DC, 1959), pp. 49-63; a catalogue of holdings is also available from the YIVO Institute. Rosenberg materials in the custody of the Centre de Documentation Juive Contemporaine (CDJC), Paris, are described in detail in Joseph Billig, Alfred Rosenberg dans l'action ideologique, politique et administrative du Reich hitlerien (Paris, 1963). Additional collections of original Rosenberg materials are held by the United States Holocaust Memorial Museum and the Library of the University of Nebraska, Lincoln, NE.

Some records of the Eastern Ministry were seized by Soviet forces. A collection of these records were returned to the German Democratic Republic and deposited with the Deutsches Zentral Staatsarchiv; they will presumably be combined with records in the Bundesarchiv. A second collection, together with other captured German records, remains in Russian custody at the Moscow Central State Archives (Special Archive). Descriptions of these records are provided in Götz Aly and Susanne Heim, Das Zentrale Staatsarchiv in Moskau ("Sonderarchiv"). Rekonstruktion und Bestandsverzeichnis verschollen geglaubten Schriftguts aus der NS-Zeit (Düsseldorf, 1992).

Closely related to the records of the Eastern Ministry are those reproduced on the following microfilm publications: T459, "Records of the Office of the Reich Commissioner for the Baltic States, 1941-45," described in Guide No. 31; T501, "Records of German Field Commands: Rear Areas, Occupied Territories, and Others," described in Guide No. 38; T77, "Records of the Headquarters of the German Armed Forces High Command" (records of the War Economy and Armaments Office), described in Guide No. 85; T84, "Miscellaneous German Records Collection" (records of the Propaganda Ministry's Abteilung Sowjet-Union Archiv), described in Guide No. 90; T175, "Records of the Reich Leader of the SS and Chief of the German Police," described in Guide Nos. 32-33, 39, and 81; and T120, "Records of the German Foreign Office Received by the Department of State," described in George O. Kent, ed., A Catalog of Foreign Ministry Archives 1920-1945 (Stanford, CA, 1962-72, 4 vols.).

The master negatives of Publication T454 have been retained by the National Archives, and copies of specific rolls may be purchased from Publications Distribution (NECD), National Archives and Records Administration, Eighth and Pennsylvania Ave., NW, Room G-9 Washington, DC 20408. For instructions on ordering microfilm, follow the guidelines on page xxx.

The descriptions and this introduction were prepared by Timothy P. Mulligan. George Wagner and Kate Posner prepared most of the data sheet preliminary descriptions.

III. NATIONAL ARCHIVES COLLECTION OF WORLD WAR II WAR CRIMES RECORDS, RECORD GROUP 238

In Europe, the United States conducted war crimes trials under three jurisdictions: that of the International Military Tribunal (IMT) at Nürnberg (RG 238), that of the U.S. military tribunals at Nürnberg (RG 238), and that of the U.S. Army courts (RG 153 and RG 338). The records of the trials at Nürnberg generally consist of transcripts of the proceedings; prosecution and defense exhibits; interrogation records; document books; and court papers including official court files, minute books, order and judgment books, and clemency petitions. In addition, the Nürnberg trial records include the prosecution document series from which most of the prosecution exhibits and some defense exhibits were drawn. Descriptive pamphlets (DP) and Special Lists are noted for many of the listed microfilm publications.

Records of International Military Tribunal

The nearly complete transcript of proceedings of the IMT at Nürnberg and most of the documentary evidence have been published in Trial of the Major War Criminals Before the International Military Tribunal (Nürnberg, 1947) 42 vols. A NARA Publication PI 21 Preliminary Inventory of the Records of the United States Counsel for the Prosecution of Axis Criminality is also available. NARA also holds motion pictures, photographs, and sound recordings of the IMT proceedings at Nürnberg.

Records of the U.S. Army War Crimes Trials in Europe

War crimes trials records for Germany were also collected or generated by the U.S. 3d and 7th Armies initially, then by special war crimes sections of the Judge Advocate General (JAG), Europe. Because these sections sent reports and other materials to Washington, some of the same material is in RG 153, Records of the Office of the Judge Advocate General (Army), and has proven to be a useful source for filling in gaps discovered in the RG 338 records. While materials from RG 153 are frequently found in the microfilmed publications listed below, in each case the great bulk of the records filmed come from RG 338.

SUGGESTIONS FOR CITING MICROFILM OF CAPTURED GERMAN AND RELATED RECORDS IN THE NATIONAL ARCHIVES OF THE UNITED STATES

The National Archives and Records Administration (NARA) is frequently asked to provide recommendations regarding information to be included in footnotes and other references to records among its holdings. The following suggestions should serve this purpose and also help our staff in locating the records thus cited.

Records

Because of the great variety and complexity of some archival material, there are no convenient models that would be applicable to all records. The initial citation, however, might consist of those of the following elements applicable in each instance: item, file unit or subseries, series title, originating office (and the administrative units of which that office is a part), name of collection or record group number and title, and depository. Except for placing the cited item first, there is no general agreement on the sequence of the remaining elements in the citation. Publishers, professional journals, and graduate faculties all prescribe their own style. Whatever sequence is adopted, however, should be used consistently throughout the same work. If in doubt, the researcher should confer with an archivist regarding elements that may be necessary to identify adequately specific records being cited.

Microfilm Publications

Citation to records reproduced in National Archives microfilm publications should provide, in general, the same information as suggested above, but with sufficient additional information to identify the particular microfilm publication as well as roll and frame numbers, if applicable.

Microfilm publications of foreign records seized during World War II involve such peculiarities of identification that largely individualized suggested systems of citation have been developed for them. The following examples suggest both a form of initial citation and of subsequent citations of the same document for each of five major microfilm projects reproducing captured German and related records. The form for the bibliography, which is not illustrated below, could be some appropriate modification of the initial citation, but should also include the National Archives record group title and number, and the title and number of the microfilm publication, e.g., National Archives Collection of World War II War Crimes Records, Record Group 238, U.S. v. Otto Ohlendorf et al, Microfilm Publication M895, 38 rolls; National Archives Collection of Foreign Records Seized, Record Group 242, Records of the Reich Ministry of Economics, Microfilm Publication T71, 148 rolls.

The serial number is the essential identification, whether the serial is of the interchangeable unlettered or H serials, or of the B,C,F,K,L, and M serials. The terms reel, container, or roll are acceptable variations, with the last preferred by the National Archives. With the Tripartite Project microfilm, National Archives Microfilm Publication T120, it is imperative to distinguish between serial and roll numbers, and the Catalog of Files and Microfilm of the German Foreign Ministry Archives, 1920-1945, 4 vols., has as a supplement to each volume, a National Archives serial-roll conversion list. The Public Record Office in London uses the same serial and frame numbers, although not always the same roll numbers, and the microfilm publication symbols GFM 2-5 instead of T120, to identify the Tripartite Project microfilm. The other Whaddon Hall microfilm projects use the same number for serial and roll, as the SA (Saint Antony's College project) serial example, given above, indicates; the National Archives has substituted microfilm publication number for project symbols.

PG number is the essential record item number; the National Archives T1022 roll number is sufficient microfilm identification. The "T-" and "TA-" prefixes indicate the original U.S. Navy microfilm designation (for World War I German Navy records the prefix "TA-" is used) and is included for roll verification. There are no frame numbers in this microfilm publication.

APPENDIX A

DOCUMENTS FROM THE ROSENBERG COLLECTION INCORPORATED WITHIN THE NATIONAL ARCHIVES COLLECTION OF WORLD WAR II WAR CRIMES RECORDS, RG 238

During the initial exploitation of captured German records, nearly 700 documents from the records of Nazi Party and German government organizations directed by Alfred Rosenberg were removed from their original files for use in Allied war crimes trials. These documents became incorporated within the United States evidence files, 1945-46, maintained by the Office of the Chief of Counsel for the Prosecution of Axis Criminality (OCCPAC). They are now located in the National Archives Collection of World War II War Crimes Records, RG 238.

Most of these are located among the "PS" series of documents, from which many were placed in evidence before the International Military Tribunal at Nürnberg as United States (USA) exhibits. Some Rosenberg documents in the "PS" series were also introduced in evidence as Great Britain (GB), Union of Soviet Socialist Republics (USSR), and Republic of France (RF) exhibits. Other original Rosenberg materials were incorporated in the "NO," "NG," "OCC," and "R" series of evidentiary documents.

Listed below are those original Rosenberg materials that have been identified as incorporated in RG 238. Where the original was subsequently introduced into evidence as an exhibit by the United States or one of the other Allied powers, this has been noted. Listings of "PS" documents and USA-, GB-, USSR-, and RF-exhibit nos. are provided in Trial of the Major War Criminals Before the International Military Tribunal, Nuremberg 14 November 1945-1 October 1946, Vol. XXV (Nuremberg, 1949), pp. 1-186.

APPENDIX B

ORIGINAL ROSENBERG DOCUMENTS INCORPORATED WITHIN RECORDS OF THE OFFICE OF STRATEGIC SERVICES (OSS), RG 226

A number of documents from the Rosenberg Collection were incorporated within the records of the Research and Analysis Branch, in the Records of the Office of Strategic Services, RG 226. Located among the formerly security-classified intelligence reports ("XL" series), 1941-46, these materials mostly document activities of the Reichsministerium für die besetzten Ostgebiete, but also include information on the Einsatzstab Reichsleiter Rosenberg.

Listed below are identified "XL" documents that represent original records of these offices. Index cards to the "XL" series provide descriptions of individual documents.

XL 12710 through XL 12747
XL 15843 through XL 15846
XL 15866

MICROFICHE LIST

- Fiche 1.....Introduction
T454: Rolls 107-110
- Fiche 2.....T454: Rolls 110-167

ITEM	DATES	ROLL	FRAME

NOTE: Rolls 111-159 are converted "MR" rolls, microfilmed without frame numbers and often duplicating record items filmed elsewhere in Microfilm Publication T454. Duplicated record items are not described but are listed in the sequence in which they appear, with cross-references provided to their T454 roll and frame numbers and to pertinent descriptions in Guide No. 28. Full descriptions and simulated frame numbers are provided only for those record items not previously described.

Rolls 160-167 are converted "ML" rolls, microfilmed without either EAP 99 record item numbers or frame numbers. The entire contents of a roll are therefore treated as a single record item, with the original ML roll designation used in place of an EAP 99 record item number. Most of these rolls also duplicate records filmed elsewhere on T454; only those materials identified as unique are described.

Accessioned microfilm roll ML 464 contains extensive correspondence and reports of the Rmfdbo, much of which duplicates records reproduced elsewhere on T454. For example, the contents of record item EAP 99/43, reproduced on T454 roll 17 (beg. frame 0738) and described in Guide No. 28, p. 18, are duplicated here. Other documents appear to be unique to ML 464. These include correspondence exchanged between Rosenberg, Lammers, and other senior government officials relating to the Vlasov Movement, July 1943 and November 1944-January 1945; and correspondence pertaining to the determination of propaganda policy in the occupied USSR, July 1943-May 1944. Still other documents complement extant EAP record items. For example, several situation reports on conditions in the Baltic states, August-September 1942, represent a more comprehensive collection than that found in record item EAP 99/1195, reproduced on T454 roll 109 and described earlier in this guide. ML 464 also includes numerous documents relating to the economic exploitation of the occupied USSR, 1942-44. Accessioned microfilm roll ML 464, containing approximately 1,350 frames, has been assigned a simulated initial frame number and new roll number in this microfilm publication.

The contents of accessioned microfilm roll ML 465, in contrast to that of ML 464, are arranged in numbered folders that mostly duplicate record items reproduced elsewhere on T454: Folder 526, for example, duplicates item EAP 99/384 (T454 roll 84, beg. frame 0381, described in Guide No. 28, p. 45); folder 533 duplicates item EAP 99/214 (T454 roll 45, beg. frame 0001, described in Guide No. 28, pp. 34-35). The folders listed below, however, appear to contain unique materials.

Folder 547:

Transliterations of Lithuanian, Latvian, Estonian, and Russian place names into German; memorandums and a proposed Führer proclamation on German war aims in Russia,

Folder 628: Extensive information on cultural and religious policies in the occupied USSR, 1942-44.

Most of the contents of accessioned microfilm roll ML 467, are also arranged in numbered folders and duplicate records reproduced elsewhere on T454 and described in Guide No. 28. The following folders, however, contain materials not found elsewhere in this microfilm publication.

Folder 513:

Monthly report of Wirtschaftsstab Ost for April 1942 and a list of industrial plants operated by Wirtschafts-Inspektion Süd (Economic Inspection South).

Folder 519:

Final report on the evacuation of Generalkommissariat Weissruthenien, July-August 1944. Some documents are illegible. Accessioned microfilm roll ML 467, containing approximately 1,215 frames, has been assigned a simulated initial frame number and new roll number in this microfilm publication.

Most of the contents of accessioned microfilm roll ML 468, arranged in part in numbered folders and in part in undesignated folders, duplicate Rmfdbo records reproduced elsewhere on T454 and described in Guide No. 28. One unidentified folder, however, contains some ERR materials that appear to supplement the contents of EAP 99/84 (T454 roll 27, beg. frame 1016) and EAP 99/91 (T454 roll 29, beg. frame 0623), described in Guide No. 28, pp. 27-28. Included is information on Professor Nikuradze, a Georgian scientist who studied with the Kontinentaleuropäische Forschung, and documentation on the confiscation of Jewish materials in the occupied USSR, 1944. Accessioned microfilm roll ML 468, containing approximately 1,050 frames, has been assigned a simulated initial frame number and new roll number in this microfilm publication.

The contents of accessioned microfilm roll ML 471 are not arranged in discrete folders, but constitute a single collection of Rmfdbo memorandums, reports, and correspondence, primarily
