INTRODUCTION

The Guides to German Records Microfilmed at Alexandria, VA, constitute a series of finding aids to the National Archives and Records Administration (NARA) microfilm publications of seized records of German central, regional, and local government agencies and of military commands and units, as well as of the Nazi Party, its component formations, affiliated associations, and supervised organizations. For the most part, these records were created during the period 1920-1945.

The guide series was initiated as a microfilming project of the Committee for the Study of War Documents of the American Historical Association (AHA) in cooperation with the National Archives and the Department of the Army. With the termination of AHA participation in July 1963, the National Archives assumed sole responsibility for the reproduction of records and the preparation of guides.

Guide No. 91 is Part VI of Records of Headquarters, German Army High Command (Oberkommando des Heeres -- OKH), and describes the records reproduced on 30 rolls of NARA Microfilm Publication T78 (rolls 535-547, 645-649, 656-657, 705-714). Parts I-V are described in Guides Nos. 12, 29, 30, 82, and 87 respectively.

This guide describes the records of three branches of the German Army High Command: Fremde Heere West (Foreign Armies West, or FHW), the section responsible for military intelligence in western Europe, the Western Hemisphere, and the Middle East; the Operationsabteilung (Operations Branch), responsible for strategic and operational planning; and the Attacheabteilung (Attache Branch), which processed the reports and coordinated the activities of German military attaches and liaison staffs in foreign countries. Approximately half of the records described in Guide 91 are those of the FHW, while those of the Operationsabteilung account for the majority of the remainder. Additional records of all three branches are described in Guide No. 30 on pages 16-60 and 117-130.

FHW originated as Gruppen II and III of the 3. Abteilung (Fremde Heere) des Generalstabs des Heeres. Both sections were under the direction of Major Dr. Hans Speidel as Leiter West. In October 1937, Speidel was replaced by Major Ulrich Liss, under whom the sections were expanded and consolidated as 3. Abteilung (Fremde Heere West) des Generalstabs des Heeres in November 1938, directly responsible to Oberquartiermeister IV (Assistant Chief of Staff, Intelligence). At the outbreak of World War II in 1939, the branch received its permanent designation as Fremde Heere West. FHW received and evaluated intelligence data; prepared analyses of enemy organizations, strength, and plans; and disseminated intelligence information to various German military commands and interested agencies. Throughout the war FHW was responsible for intelligence data on western Europe (France, Belgium, the Netherlands, Switzerland, Italy, Spain, and Portugal), the British Empire, and (excepting the period March-November 1942 when authority was temporarily transferred to Fremde Heere Ost, FHO) the United States and Latin America. In the autumn of 1941, the Army High Command established an independent intelligence section for southeastern Europe and the Middle East, but on Jan. 1, 1943, this section was dissolved and its functions divided between FHO and FHW, with the latter given responsibility for the Arab states (Palestine, Transjordan, Syria/Lebanon, Iraq, and Saudi-Arabia). Later responsibility for Southeast Europe and the Middle East was transferred to FHW on the basis of increasing British influence in those regions. Liss remained in command of FHW until Mar. 1, 1943, when he was succeeded by Oberst Alexis Freiherr von Roenne. Von Rönne served as head of FHW through Aug. 10, 1944, when he was removed for his association with the July 20, 1944, assassination attempt on Hitler. Oberst Willi Bürklin replaced von Rönne and retained command of FHW for the remainder of its existence. FHW was located in the Army High Command headquarters at Zossen (south of Berlin) until about Mar. 1, 1945, when it was transferred to Georgental (south of Gotha); in early April FHW again moved, to Spielberg (south of Hof), where it was disbanded on April 15. According to an interrogation of one of its section chiefs, FHW destroyed the bulk of its records during the transfers in March-April 1945 to prevent their capture.

The Operations Branch, originally designated 1. Abteilung (Operationsabteilung) des Generalstabs des Heeres, was directly responsible to the Chief of the Army General Staff for the planning and implementation of operational measures at the Army High Command level and for the smooth cooperation of all branches of the Army General Staff and related command agencies. In peacetime its subordinate sections handled specific matters of defensive preparations and mobilization, prepared studies of operations for training purposes, and coordinated operational requirements with appropriate Army agencies. With the outbreak of World War II, the Operations Branch expanded its organization and responsibilities to include operations in the Soviet Union and the Balkans as well as matters in occupied territories in western Europe (until taken over by the Armed Forces High Command), and (beginning in 1943) partisan warfare in the eastern theater of operations. Throughout the war the branch provided the Chief of the Army General Staff continuous information on military developments at the front and prepared daily situation maps. It also compiled and conducted feasibility studies of requirements for possible or contemplated operations. Although principally headquartered at Zossen and Mauerwald (East Prussia) during the war, the Operations Branch temporarily transferred to field headquarters near active theaters of operations, at Münstereifel and Forges (May-June 1940), Wiener-Neustadt (March 1941), and Vinnitsa (summer 1942). For most of the war (Oct. 1, 1940, to July 21, 1944), the Operationsabteilung was under the command of Oberst (later Generalmajor and Generalleutnant) Adolf Heusinger. His predecessors included Oberst Erich von Manstein (July 1935-September 1936); Major Erich Hansen (October 1936-May 1939); and Oberst Hans von Greiffenberg (May 1939-September 1940). Heusinger was succeeded by Generalleutnant Walther Wenck (July 21-Sept. 1, 1944); Oberst Bogislaw von Bonin (Sept. 1, 1944-Jan. 18, 1945); Oberst Friedrich Bennecke (acting) (Jan. 18-Mar. 28, 1945); Generalmajor Ivo Thilo von Trotha (Mar. 28-Apr. 10, 1945); and Oberst Ulrich de Maiziere (acting) (Apr. 10-24, 1945). In late April 1945, the Operations Branch was absorbed into the Armed Forces High Command's Wehrmachtführungsstab, Operationsabteilung (Operations Staff, Army Operations Branch).

The Attache Branch, like the FHW, originally comprised a section of the 3. Abteilung (Fremde Heere) of the Army General Staff. Between November 1937 and November 1938 the section was detached and expanded to branch status, though it remained subordinated to Oberquartiermeister IV. In peacetime it received and processed information reported by German military attaches in foreign countries, directed the briefings and activities of the latter, and functioned as the liaison agency to foreign military attaches accredited to Berlin. Attache Branch responsibilities expanded in wartime most significantly in the areas of liaison and military cooperation with Axis powers, as well as provision for the requests of Axis and neutral military attaches in Germany, and enlargement of the informational and propaganda role of German military attaches in foreign countries. At the end of July 1944, the Attache Branch was transferred from the Army General Staff to the Armed Forces High Command's Wehrmachtführungsstab and designated as the Army Attache Branch of the Foreign Intelligence Group (Attacheabteilung Heer, Amtsgruppe Ausland). Except for a temporary transfer of the branch's chief and some of its subordinate sections to Vinnitsa, June-November 1942, the Attache Branch remained stationed in Berlin until the end of 1943. At that time the bulk of the branch was transferred to Zossen. In March 1945 the branch was moved to Elgersburg (Thuringia), and shortly before the German surrender transferred to St. Gilgen (near Salzburg). The Attacheabteilung's commanding officers were: Major Friedrich-Karl Rabe von Pappenheim (July 1, 1935-Oct. 12, 1937); Major (later Oberst) Horst von Mellenthin (Oct. 12, 1937-Mar. 1, 1943); Oberst Karl Schuchardt (Mar. 1, 1943-Aug. 25, 1944); and Oberst Werner von Tippelskirch (Sept. 5, 1944-May 1945).

The FHW records include extensive intelligence data for military forces of the western Allies, 1939-45. The material includes general information on the organization, strength, tactics, losses, reserves, movements, plans, and equipment of Allied forces as well as detailed studies of fortifications and Allied intelligence operations. There is a particularly valuable collection of material relating to France during this period, including: French military forces and fortifications, 1931-40; the organization and strength of the forces of Vichy France, 1941-42, and of the Free French, 1942-45; acts of resistance and German reprisal measures against hostages in occupied France, 1940-42; and French observations and policies concerning the mandate states of Syria and Lebanon, ca. 1930-42. Of equal significance is a large quantity of material regarding political developments, economic conditions, and geographic descriptions of the Middle East, ca. 1940-43. Finally, the records also reveal much concerning the structure and operation of German intelligence organizations, including evaluations of intelligence agents.

Records of the Operations Branch described in this guide include several volumes of appendices to the branch's war diary, November 1944-March 1945, as well as numerous operational studies (particularly the planned seizure of Gibraltar, 1940-41), collected operational orders for campaigns (especially in North Africa and in the Soviet Union, 1940-43), and order-of-battle charts for German forces in all theaters of operations, 1941-45. Of particular interest are directives and tables of mobilization, 1935-38, and a World War I file of the Oberste Heeresleitung regarding the formation of infantry assault units (Sturmtruppen), 1916-18, seized intact with Operations Branch material.

The small volume of Attacheabteilung records consists principally of intelligence reports from the German military attache in Washington, D.C., 1935-41, and administrative correspondence mixed with some intelligence material from the military attache in Rome, Italy, 1938-41. The intelligence data in the former pertains generally to American war production and aid to Great Britain, while the latter includes information on German-Italian military cooperation.

Record items bear the prefix designation "H 2" for Fremde Heere West, "H 22" for Operationsabteilung, and "H 27" for Attacheabteilung. Where possible, the original German Army Archives catalogue designation (Heeresarchiv Potsdam Nr.) has also been included.

In addition to those records described in Guide No. 30, documents originated by these branches and closely related records are scattered throughout the captured German records. A number of FHW records are found among those of its Eastern counterpart, FHO, described in Guide 82. FHW and Operations Branch records are located among the records of the Armed Forces High Command's Wehrmachtfuehrungsstab and Amt Ausland/Abwehr, reproduced in NARA Microfilm Publication T77. Records of all three branches pertaining to Japan, the Far East, and the United States military and naval forces are reproduced in NARA Microfilm Publication T82, Records of Nazi Cultural and Research Institutions, and Records Pertaining to Axis Relations and Interests in the Far East, described in Guide No. 6. Many military attache reports have been incorporated within the records of the German Foreign Ministry, reproduced on NARA Microfilm Publication T120. Other material will be found among the records of the Reich Leader of the SS and Chief of the German Police, T175; the records of the Oberkommando der Luftwaffe, T321; the records of the Seekriegsleitung, T1022; and the records of the various field commands, T311 (HGr), T312 (AOK), T313 (PzAOK), T314 (AK), and T315 (Div).

Some record items appear out of sequence because they were classified or otherwise unavailable in early stages of the filming. This also accounts for the occasional break in continuity of roll numbers in this guide. Duplication of material exists where it has been noted in the record item description. Rolls 707-710 and 712-714 lack frame numbers. For these rolls, the record item descriptions provide the number of frames for each item and the original "MR" or "ML" microfilm designation. MR (Microfilm Reproductions) is an acronym referring to captured records filmed at Alexandria, Virginia, by the German Military Documents Section (GMDS) as a medium for providing reference copies to official, and eventually other, researchers. Transferred to NARA along with the Alexandria German microfilm publications, MR record items have been used to fill gaps in microfilm publications of the same provenance. ML (Microfilm Library) is an acronym denoting a collection of microfilm copies of captured records not held by GMDS. Like the MR collection, ML reels have been incorporated into NARA Microfilm Publications.

The original records described here were returned to the Federal Republic of Germany and deposited at the Bundesarchiv-Abteilung Militärarchiv in Freiburg/Breisgau. The master negatives of publication T78 have been retained by the National Archives, and copies of specific rolls may be purchased from the Publication Sales Branch, National Archives and Records Administration, Washington, DC 20408. Reference copies may be consulted in the Microfilm Reading Room of the National Archives. For suggestions on citing microfilm, see page xxvi; for instructions for ordering microfilm, see page xxix.

Preliminary indexing and data sheet descriptions for material in Guide 91 were undertaken by Anton Grassl and Johanna M. Wagner. The introduction and item descriptions for this guide were prepared by Timothy Mulligan.

NATIONAL ARCHIVES COLLECTION OF FOREIGN RECORDS SEIZED, RECORD GROUP 242

The microfilm publications in this record group are listed below according to the place where the filming was done. The original paper records have been returned to the country of origin. A relatively small number of these papers may have been of private origin; the fact of their seizure is not believed to divest their original owners of any literary property rights in them. Anyone, therefore, who publishes them in whole or in part without permission may be held liable for infringement of property rights.

NATIONAL ARCHIVES COLLECTION OF WORLD WAR II WAR CRIMES RECORDS, RECORD GROUP 238

In Europe, the United States conducted war crimes trials under three jurisdictions: that of the International Military Tribunal (IMT) at Nürnberg (RG 238), that of the U.S. military tribunals at Nürnberg (RG 238) and that of the U.S. Army courts (RG 153 & RG 338). The records of the trials at Nürnberg generally consist of transcripts of the proceedings; prosecution and defense exhibits; interrogation records; document books; and court papers including official court files, minute books, order and judgment books and clemency petitions. In addition, the Nürnberg trial records include the prosecution document series from which most of the prosecution exhibits and some defense exhibits were drawn.

Records of International Military Tribunal

The nearly complete transcript of proceedings of the IMT at Nürnberg and much of the documentary evidence have been published in Trial of the Major War Criminals Before the International Military Tribunal (Nuremberg, 1947) 42 vols. A NARA Publication PI 21 Preliminary Inventory of the Records of the United States Counsel for the Prosecution of Axis Criminality is also available.

NARA also holds motion pictures, photographs, and sound recordings of the IMT proceedings at Nürnberg.

RECORDS OF U.S. ARMY COMMANDS, 1942- , RECORD GROUP 338

War crimes trials records for Germany also were collected or generated by the U.S. Third and Seventh Armies initially, then by special war crimes sections of the Judge Advocate General (JAG), Europe. Because these sections sent reports and other materials to Washington, some of the same material is in RG 53, Records of the Judge Advocate General (Army), and has proven to be a useful source for filling in gaps discovered in the RG 338 records. While materials from RG 53 are frequently found in the microfilmed publications listed below, the great bulk of the records filmed come from RG 338 in each case.

RG 338 also includes the "Foreign Military Studies" manuscripts prepared by former German officers for the Historical Division of the U.S. Army, Europe.

SUGGESTIONS FOR CITING MICROFILM OF CAPTURED GERMAN AND RELATED RECORDS IN THE NATIONAL ARCHIVES OF THE UNITED STATES

The National Archives and Records Administration (NARA) is frequently asked to provide recommendations regarding information to be included in footnotes and other references to records among its holdings. The following suggestions should serve this purpose and also help our staff in locating the records thus cited.

Records

Because of the great variety and complexity of some archival material, there are no convenient models that would be applicable to all records. The initial citation, however, might consist of those of the following elements applicable in each instance: item, file unit or subseries, series title, originating office (and the administrative units of which that office is a part), name of collection or record group number and title, and depository. Except for placing the cited item first, there is no general agreement on the sequence of the remaining elements in the citation. Publishers, professional journals, and graduate faculties all prescribe their own style. Whatever sequence is adopted, however, should be used consistently throughout the same work. If in doubt, the researcher should confer with an archivist regarding elements that may be necessary to identify adequately specific records being cited.

Microfilm Publications

Citation to records reproduced in National Archives microfilm publications should provide, in general, the same information as suggested above, but with sufficient additional information to identify the particular microfilm publication as well as roll and frame numbers, if applicable.

Microfilm publications of foreign records seized during World War II involve such peculiarities of identification that largely individualized suggested systems of citation have been developed for them. The following examples suggest both a form of initial citation and of subsequent citations of the same document for each of five major microfilm projects reproducing captured German and related records. The form for the bibliography, which is not illustrated below, could be some appropriate modification of the initial citation, but should also include the National Archives record group title and number, and the title and number of the microfilm publication, e.g., National Archives Collection of World War II War Crimes Records (Nuernberg), Record Group 238, U.S. v. Otto Ohlendorf et al, Microfilm Publication M895, 38 rolls; National Archives Collection of Foreign Records Seized 1941- , Record Group 242, Records of the Reich Ministry of Economics, Microfilm Publication T71, 148 rolls.

Item numbers such as EAP 173-a-10/22a, or OKW 1015 are optional and serial numbers unnecessary. Frames are sometimes unnumbered.

The serial number is the essential identification, whether the serial is of the interchangeable unlettered or H serials, or of the B,C,F,K,L, and M serials. The terms reel, container, or roll are acceptable variations, with the last preferred by the National Archives. With the Tripartite Project microfilm, National Archives Microfilm Publication T120, it is imperative to distinguish between serial and roll numbers, and the Catalog of Files and Microfilm of the German Foreign Ministry Archives, 1920-1945, 4 vols., has as a supplement to each volume, a National Archives serial-roll conversion list. The Public Record Office in London uses the same serial and frame numbers, although not always the same roll numbers, and the microfilm publication symbols GFM 2-5 instead of T120, to identify the Tripartite Project microfilm. The other Whaddon Hall microfilm projects use the same number for serial and roll, as the SA (Saint Antony's College project) serial example, given above, indicates; the National Archives has substituted microfilm publication number for project symbols.

Subsequent citations:

"Seeschlacht vor dem Skagerrak," T1022/347-348, 443-445/PG 64808-64813.

PG number is the essential record item number; the National Archives T1022 roll number is sufficient microfilm identification. The "T-" and "TA-" prefixes indicate the original U.S. Navy microfilm designation (for World War I German Navy records the prefix "TA-" is used) and is included for roll verification. There are no frame numbers in this microfilm publication.

The National Archives and Records Administration will appreciate receiving copies of books and articles based in whole or in part on records in its custody. Such copies should be directed to the Library, NARA, Washington, DC 20408.

INSTRUCTIONS FOR ORDERING MICROFILM

Microfilm copies of one or more rolls of microfilm may be purchased at the current quoted price per roll by writing to the National Archives Fulfillment Center (NEDC), 8700 Edgeworth Drive, Capitol Heights, MD 20743-3701; or call 301-763-1896 (fax 301-763-6025). The quoted price includes postage or shipping costs on orders sent by surface mail within the United States. Costs for airmail shipment to foreign countries will be quoted on request.

Checks or money orders, which must accompany each microfilm order, are to be made payable to "National Archives Trust Fund (NEDC)," and mailed to the National Archives Trust Fund (NEDC), P. O. Box 100793, Atlanta, GA 30384. Persons ordering microfilm from outside the United States or its possessions should make their remittance by international money order or check drawn in United States dollars on a bank in the United States, made payable to the "National Archives Trust Fund (NEPS)," and mailed to the same address in Atlanta. All orders should specify the microfilm publication number and the number of each roll being ordered.

A publication of daily intelligence situation summaries prepared by Fremde Heere West for the Western Front from May 9-July 3, 1940, including summaries for Mar. 24 and Apr. 24, 1940. The summaries furnish intelligence data such as the identification, strength, concentration, and movement of Belgian, Dutch, British, and French units in reaction to the German offensive against the Low Countries and France (Fall "Gelb") beginning May 10, 1940. Topics discussed included the Dunkirk evacuation of Allied forces and the disintegration and capitulation of the French Army, June 1940. Also included are lists of the principal officers in Fremde Heere West as of May 1940, and maps illustrating the disposition of Allied forces in France, Belgium, and the Netherlands on May 8, May 12, May 21, June 4, and June 13, 1940. A handwritten notation dates the document at December 1940. An earlier set of "Lageberichte West" can be found in H2/635; later sets are reproduced in 42/107c-g described in Guide No. 30, p. 124.

Reports and tables concerning Allied naval convoys and shipping. Separate series of tables present intelligence data on the following topics: (1) Allied convoys departing from or arriving at Gibraltar, citing for each convoy the original intelligence source, the number and types of merchant ships, the number and types of naval escorts, and the date and time of arrival/departure, including some data for Marseille and Oran, January-March 1945; (2) similar data for individual vessels (primarily troopships) or small groups of vessels passing from the Atlantic to the Mediterranean or arriving at/departing from Gibraltar, October 1944-January 1945; (3) lists of Allied troop convoys, arranged by Allied convoy code (e.g., "UG" for convoys sailing from the United States to the Mediterranean), citing size, number of troops transported, and sailing date. In general, the data covers troop convoys from the United States to the Mediterranean, North Africa, and Great Britain and from England to the Mediterranean, February 1942-1943. Reports intermingled with the tables furnish information on Allied shipping traffic and losses in the Mediterranean, October-December 1944; the British use of large passenger liners (including the "Queen Mary") as troopships; an Italian General Staff assessment of the Allied landings in Sicily, prepared November 1943; tables of organization and equipment for reinforced U.S. infantry and armored divisions and British infantry divisions in amphibious operations; and data on supply requirements of British and American units, 1944.

Reports evaluating the reliability of German intelligence agents ("V-Leuten"). The bulk of the file consists of appraisals which furnish the agent's name (usually a codename or number, but occasionally a real name), his Abwehr unit, physical location, and assessments (either a general appraisal or evaluations of individual reports submitted). Also included are detailed critiques of some individual agent's reports, an organizational plan of the Reichssicherheitshauptamt with detailed information on Amt VI (Auslandsnachrichtendienst) as of January 1945, and technical data on British and American amphibious landing craft.

Evaluations of German intelligence agents ("V-Leuten"). The bulk of the file consists of appraisal forms which provide the agent's codename or designation with lists of "good" and "poor" intelligence reports submitted (as evaluated by unspecified German intelligence authorities). These are arranged alphabetically by codename from "A" through "P", but are undated. Also included are Abwehr reports evaluating the agents of Ast Athens, January 1943, with some detailed critiques of individual reports, 1943-44. See also File H 2/115b below.

Continued from Item H 2/115a. Evaluations of German intelligence agents ("V-Leuten") arranged alphabetically by codename or designation "R" through "Z." The same appraisal forms as in H 2/115a are used, as well as some of the more general evaluations found in H 2/114. Fragmentary dates cited in the reports indicate that this material covers at least 1943-1944.

Evaluations of German intelligence agents ("V-Leuten") using a different appraisal format from files H 2/114-115. Each appraisal provides the agent's codename or number, his Abwehr unit or section, occupation or position held, location, and separate evaluations by the Abwehr and (presumably) Fremde Heere West on the value of individual reports submitted. Evaluations are usually very brief, and in many cases are offered by only one of the two intelligence agencies. There is little duplication of agent codenames or designations with earlier files, which suggests that this file covers a different group of German intelligence agents.

It has been assigned a simulated initial frame number and new roll number in this microfilm publication.)
H 22/449 (II) FWH.	1941/11/05-1942/08/30	710	0000280
A report by Oberbefehlshaber West on German coastal defenses in Western Europe, November 1941, and a directive for the increased use of forced civilian labor on the Eastern Front, August 1942. Item H 22/449 is a duplicate copy of documentation filmed in item H 22/449(I), found on roll 649 of T78, frame 572. (This item was originally filmed without frame numbers on MR 1768. It has been assigned a simulated initial frame number and new roll number in this microfilm publication.)
H 22/450 FWH.	1942/08/24-1943/09/28	710	0000292
A file consisting of (1) lists of German Army order-of-battle charts ("Schematische Kriegsgliederungen") forwarded by Section III of the Operationsabteilung to the Chef des Heeresarchivs, dated Oct. 24, 1942, and Jan. 3, 1943; and (2) unit history tables ("Stammtafeln") for the following artillery commands: Stab Höherer Art. Offizier Frankfurt/Main (as of August 1943); Stab Höherer Art. Offizier Königsberg (as of August 1943); Bodnst. Art. Offizier 2 (v. Platz) (August 1939-September 1940); and Bodnst. Art. Offizier Freiburg-Nord (December 1939-August 1940) and Freiburg-Süd (August 1939-September 1940). The latter tables identify the military districts (Wehrkreis) in which the artillery units were located and the field commands to which they were assigned. (Item H 22/450, containing 16 frames and originally filmed without frame numbers on MR 1768, has been assigned a simulate initial frame number and new roll number in this microfilm publication.)

ITEM	DATES	ROLL	FRAME
Studies, correspondence, and memoranda forwarded to the Operationsabteilung concerning possible economic warfare measures against Great Britain. The bulk of the material was prepared by the OKW's "Sonderstab für Handelskrieg und wirtschaftliche Kampfmassnahmen" (or "Sonderstab HWK") and includes proposed measures for cutting Britain and France off from their Baltic trade (February and October 1940) and for pressuring Denmark to reduce exports to Britain (February 1940); a general assessment of Britain's economic situation; possible German economic measures in Vichy French colonies and neutral states with a summary of actions undertaken by August 1940; a discussion of Vichy France's trade relations with other states (March 1941); and a semi-annual report of the Sonderstab's activities (May 1940). Also included are directives and correspondence of the Oberkommando der Kriegsmarine concerning search and seizure of contraband goods aboard ships at sea. (Item H22/451, containing an estimated 130 frames, was originally filmed without frame numbers on MR 1768. It has been assigned a simulated initial frame number and new roll number in this microfilm publication.)
H 22/452 OHL Akte: Sturmtruppen I (Band 1).	1916/05/15-1918/11/26	710	0000438
Reports, correspondence, and tables of organization concerning the World War I assault detachments and battalions (Sturmtruppen). Most of the material concerns the composition of units to the company level and allocation of weapons (e.g., authorized numbers of mortars, heavy machine-guns, and flamethrowers), with draft and revised tables of organization and equipment. Also included are: (1) reports on assault detachment training; (2) status reports on the distribution of assault battalions by individual German Army and Armee-Abteilung along the Western Front; and (3) reports on the disbandment of assault units to replace losses in regular units, including memoranda from field commands opposing this measure. Many telegrams are transcribed into handwritten German and not completely legible. (Item H 22/452, containing an estimated 200 frames, was originally filmed without frame numbers on MR 1768. It has been assigned a simulated initial frame number and a new roll number in this microfilm publication.)
H 22/453 Sachgebiet "T": Planungen und Zeichnungen.	No Date	710	0000635
Annotated illustrations on the use of camouflage to conceal buildings, emplacements, roadways, and railway lines. Many illustrations are duplicated within the file. (This record item, containing 38 frames and filmed originally without frame numbers on MR 1768, has been assigned a simulated initial frame number and a new roll number in this microfilm publication.)

Interrogation reports and a U.S. State Department press release concerning American war production. Documentation in this item was forwarded to the OKW/Fwi Amt in March 1945, and includes information concerning American military supplies to Canada, the U.S. Army treatment of German prisoners of war, synthetic rubber and military aircraft production in the U.S., political indoctrination in the Canadian Army, and the "Interagency Committee on Foreign Shipments" in the U.S. Government. Also included, apparently in error, is a 1947 memorandum by an American official summarizing the contents of file H 27/47A (above). The names of individual American and Canadian prisoners of war have been deleted as privileged material.
